

Megan Chao

Yixin Cao

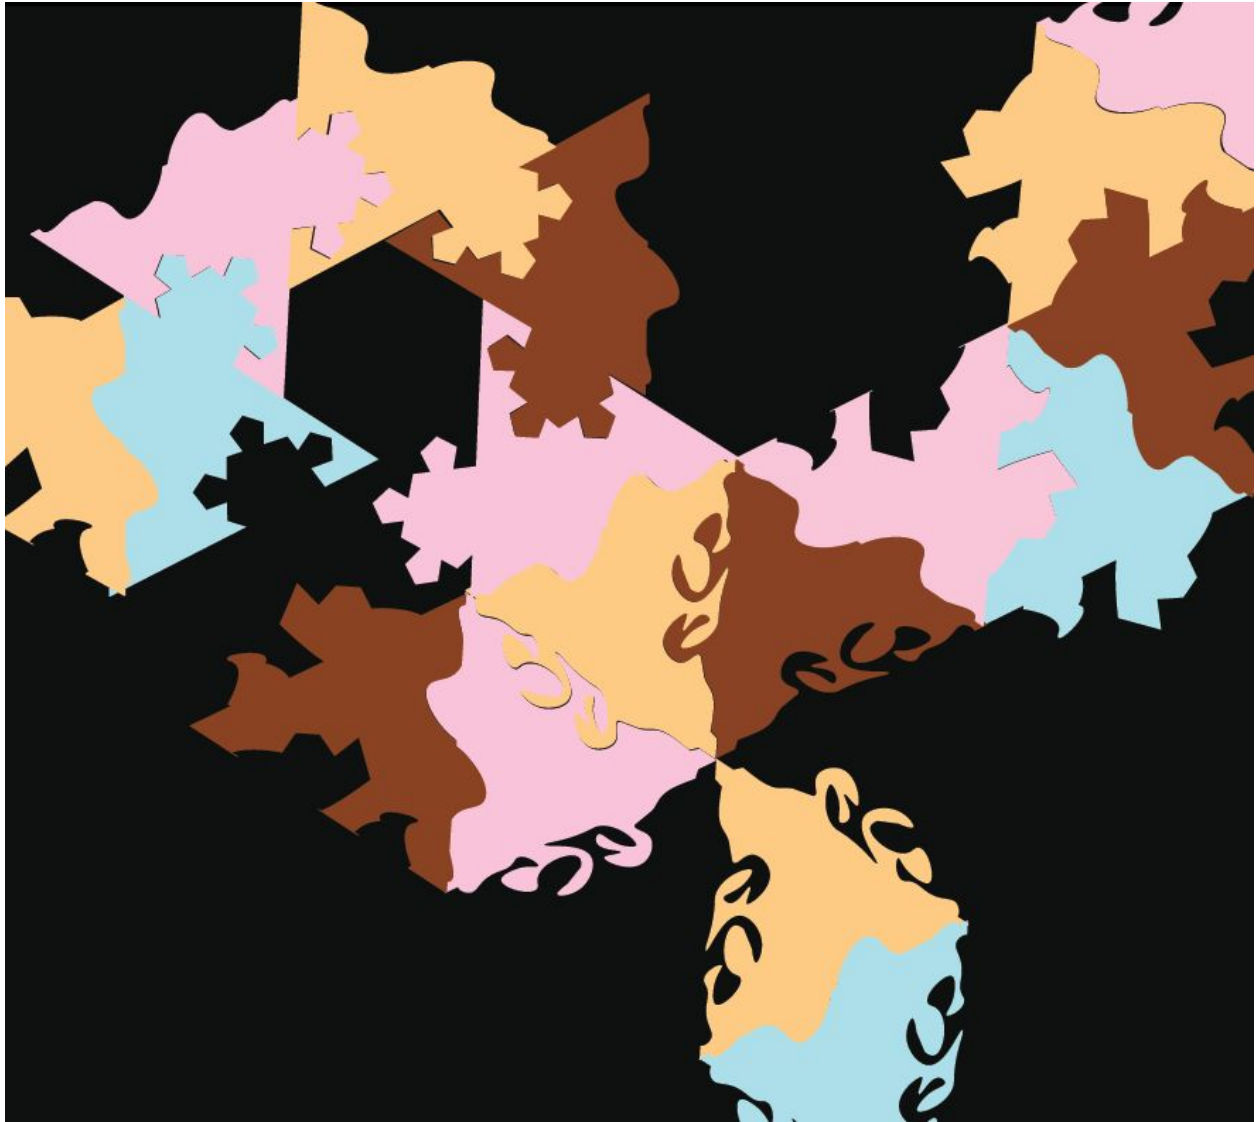

Brian Ressler

Common Side

This image shows each of the group members' individual shapes as well as our common shape that we worked with.

This is the first example of all of our shapes tessellating with each other. While there still is a lot of negative space, they still work with each other on the common side.

This image shows our second example of tessellation. It still has problems with negative space.